Use this guide to keep the identity recognizable, the information clear, and the customer experience welcoming across digital and print.

Reviewed 06 October 2026 against the live storefront and checked-in implementation.

THE BRAND IN ONE LINE

Everyday groceries, made easy to find and simple to order.

A neighborhood grocery, made clearer.

Lucky Store helps nearby customers discover everyday groceries through a straightforward storefront and friendly service.

Useful

Make products, prices, and order details easy to understand.

Welcoming

Use plain, warm language that feels neighborly and respectful.

Grounded

Keep customer-facing claims tied to the current storefront or a verified source.

Current storefront language

“Chawkbazar groceries delivered to your doorstep.”

The storefront currently describes grocery delivery within 1 km of Chawkbazar, free delivery on orders of ₹500+, and payment after inspection. Recheck the live site before reusing these changeable details.

The service area, delivery threshold, product availability, prices, and promotions can change. Reconfirm them at the moment of publication.

Use the real storefront logo.

The active English lockup combines the Lucky Store wordmark, smiling grocery-bag mark, and “1947” on one baseline.

Bengali interface

Use logo-bangla.svg on light surfaces and logo-bangla-inverse.svg on dark surfaces. The approved SVGs and favicon are in assets/logo/approved/.

Clear space Keep at least the height of the “L” in Lucky Store around the full lockup.

Minimum size Keep the English lockup at least 120 px wide on screen or 30 mm in print; check that “1947” stays legible.

Do not Rebuild the wordmark, recolor the bag mark, separate “1947”, add effects, or place it on a busy image.

A warm, restrained storefront palette.

Use the live interface tokens as the source of truth. Keep saffron as a focused accent and preserve strong text contrast.

Hierarchy

Display / clear, short headline • Heading / section title • Body / comfortable reading size • Caption / supporting detail

Warm. Helpful. Plain-spoken.

Write like a considerate neighborhood shop: give the useful detail first, keep the sentence short, and make the next step clear.

Warm

"Need a hand finding something? Message us."

Helpful

"Check your order before you pay at the door."

Specific

"Delivery is available within 1 km of Chawkbazar."

Concise

"Browse groceries" instead of a long promotional claim.

Adapt by channel

Storefront Prioritize accurate product details, prices, and clear actions.

Social Use Bangla-first copy when the audience and channel call for it; keep English concise when appropriate.

Support Be calm and direct. Explain what is known and what the customer should do next.

Avoid invented testimonials, unsupported quality or sourcing claims, guaranteed delivery times, and stale price or offer language.

Real groceries. Clear, honest presentation.

Photography and graphics should help customers recognize products and understand the offer, not disguise missing information.

Products

Show the actual item clearly. Use accurate packaging and avoid altering labels, size, or condition.

People

Choose candid, respectful moments of service or everyday shopping. Do not imply a real customer endorsement.

Places

Use recognizable Chawkbazar / Chattogram context only when the image is genuinely from that place.

Light & color

Prefer natural-looking light, warm neutral settings, and uncluttered backgrounds. Keep saffron accents modest.

Graphics & icons

Use simple, consistent interface icons with adequate padding. Follow the storefront's Phosphor icon system for digital work; no single global icon weight is prescribed. Avoid decorative icon clutter and unapproved logo redraws.

Keep product photos and campaign artwork within approved claims. Verify availability, current price, delivery terms, and promotion details before publishing.

One recognizable system across touchpoints.

Keep the same logo, warm neutral base, dark text, and focused saffron accent. Adapt layouts to the channel instead of forcing every asset into a storefront component.

Web & app	Use theme-matched logo, live palette tokens, and the storefront's assigned type roles.
Social post	Lead with one real product or useful message. Check current availability and price before posting.
Print	Use the approved logo source, maintain clear space, and confirm legibility at final size.
Bengali material	Use the approved Bengali logo variant and Noto Sans Bengali. Review language with a fluent speaker.

Current facts to recheck before use

The storefront review showed service within 1 km of Chawkbazar, free delivery on ₹500+, and payment at the door after inspection. These are time-sensitive operating details, not permanent brand promises. Confirm them on luckystore1947.com before publishing.
